Thoughts from today's Gospel Reading: Mk 5: 21-43

In this 13th Sunday of Ordinary Time, the Church asks us to meditate on two of Jesus' miracles worked for two women.

The first miracle is worked for a woman considered impure because she suffered from a haemorrhage for twelve years. The second is worked for a twelve-year-old girl who has just died.

Jairus's Daughter was healed and we like to think of her growing into womanhood, of the full life she might have lived.

The woman who touched the fringe of Jesus' cloak becomes an image of the girl's healing, but her affliction reminds us of the womanhood that the girl will grow into.

We are carried back to the Garden of Eden and to the pain that Eve was promised would be woman's punishment for disobedience.

A woman's body nourishes the life of her child, but the body's preparation for life-bearing and the giving of birth bring pain.

According to the thinking of the times, any person who touched blood or a dead body was considered impure. Blood and death were factors that excluded people!

Thus these two women were marginalized, excluded from taking part in the community. Today, too, we have categories of people who are excluded or who feel excluded from taking part in the Christian community.

What are the factors today that cause people to be excluded, both from the Church and from society?

We can see why the Christian community loved to remember the two healings together: a girl and a woman; the father's faith and the woman's faith.

The woman is healed because she believes, the little girl is healed because her father believes. Both are healed by Jesus' divine power - offered to the little girl and Jairus but drawn from him by the woman's faith.

We believe for ourselves and for others! We pray for ourselves and for each other . . .

Take Time to Pray

Lord, open our hearts and minds, enabling us to try to understand more fully events in the world around us.

Give us the courage to listen sympathetically, to hear without making judgement, to speak with tolerance, to offer support and help generously and with love.

Help us to respond positively in some small way today to the needs of others – in the wider world, here in school or back at home.

Joy lies in the flight, in the attempt, in the suffering involved, not in the victory itself.' Mahatma Gandhi

Liz Doyle RIP - Please remember in your Masses and Prayers Liz Doyle, who died this week. Our prayerful condolences go to her family,
